

Support children, families, and communities by providing $10 million in tax credits for the state housing tax credit (Act 107 of 2020)

*Investing in housing is good for all of us.
A state housing tax credit can:*

Unleash the job creation and economic generating power of private developers; decent housing attracts and retains workers and businesses, putting local economies at competitive advantages

Incentivize financing to get blighted and abandoned homes into productive reuse

Provide senior citizens, people with disabilities, and families with children earning low wages with increased housing opportunities

Improve a child's school performance with fewer moves; save money through decreased shelter use, lower medical costs, and fewer incarcerations
